

Jennifer Mercedes is a young and accomplished journalist with a degree in TV and Media from Rutgers University. The daughter of proud Dominican parents Hector Mercedes and Dr. Dellanira Rosario-Leger, in 2012 Jennifer was voted as one of the Top 40 Rising Stars Under the age of 40 by the Hispanic Coalition of New York and in 2014 was selected as a "Lady Lincoln" by Lincoln Motor Company.

At a young age, Jennifer has already worked with a variety of media outlets such as ESPN, Azteca América, Telemundo, SuperCanal Caribe, Dominican View & MundoFox.

Jennifer is currently the Executive Producer and Host of La Chica Deportes, which airs nationwide via Dominican View and worldwide on LaChicaDeportes.com and Vegateve & SuperCanal Caribe in the Dominican Republic. Jennifer is also a contributing reporter to 1050 Impact which airs Saturdays and Sundays on ESPN Deportes Radio in New York.

Outside of the sports world, Jennifer also enjoys working with charitable organizations in the Dominican Republic and the US such as Fundacion HHS, Educacion Calzada, and the Boomstick23 Foundation, all of which focus on bettering the lives children in need.